

Did you know?

- Child safety is everyone's responsibility
- Children have a right to privacy, especially in change rooms
- You should speak to your supervisor if you have concerns about child safety
- You must have permission to take photos of children
- It is always right to raise a concern about child safety
- You should always follow your organisation's Child Safe Code of Conduct

If you see something, you should say something.

Call police if you believe a child is at risk of abuse.

NSW Police

Child Protection Helpline 132 111

Internal reporting officer

Find out more

